

The Garden Club has struggled a little this year and the current team, some of whom have been keeping it going for over 14 years were hoping that someone would step up to run the club and bring some fresh ideas.

Many appeals for help fell on deaf ears and we are currently carrying out a members consultation to test whether there really is an appetite for keeping it going. We await those responses.

As a general point, we are repeatedly disappointed with the lack of participation in established groups within the village, few new residents and anyone under about 60 seem to participate and almost everyone in the village has a garden!
